

January 2012

LABELS FOR EDUCATION

I just submitted labels before Christmas that totaled 7900 points. We should also get an additional 1000 bonus points for a promotion they were doing. We are doing great so far - keep clipping! I'd like to double that total in the next few months. A few new products that participate in Labels for Education include Dannon, Glad and Emerald Nuts. Certain products from these new companies have labels worth 5 and 10 points, so be on the lookout for those next time you're in the grocery store. Lastly, keep your eye out for a 100 point bonus offer in the Jan. 8 newspaper. It will be a sheet with 5 spots to attach labels from specific brands. Even if you can't fill out the whole thing, please send in what you can and I can fill in where needed. Thanks for all your help!!!

ST. DOMINIC CATHOLIC SCHOOL & PARISH IS GOING "GREEN"!!

On January 10th, Dustin Nolan from The Waukesha County Recycling Center will be presenting a RECYCLING program to the students of St. Dominic in the PAAC. The Waukesha County Recycling Center is working hand-in-hand to help St. Dominic become a 100% recycling school. Through a grant obtained by your St. Dominic Home & School, the Waukesha County "Green Schools" program is funding this program, and is replacing all the recycling containers on the campus.

We will have trash, bottle/can and waste containers in each classroom, in all offices, and the PAAC. Large ERGO containers will be placed in the cafeteria, and in the NEW ATHLETIC FACILITY!

The Waukesha County "Green Schools" program assists in educating students and faculty with grants and training workshops to enhance the program. St. Dominic School and Parish are in full support of Home and School efforts, with the assistance of Kristin Becker, to become more involved in recycling. The recycling effort is also in alignment with St.

Dominic's efforts to continue to be an exemplary school.

Watch for the new containers! Be a part of the recycling movement!!!
